AGREEMENT ON ARMS PARLEY PROBLEMS FORECAST

ARMS CONFERENCE READY TO TAKE UP NEW FACTOR--HUGHES NAVAL LIMITATION MOVE

Naval Limitation Outstanding Problem Now Confronting Session—Few Far East Details Still To Be Threshed Out By Committee.

BRITISH PRESS APPROVES PACIFIC PACT

Washington, D. C., December 12.—Complete agreement on all major problems confronting the Arms Conference is now confidently expected before the end of this, the fifth week of the parley.

With the acceptance of the four-power Pacific treaty by the conference, the outstanding question before the parley is completed.

Hughes Proposal Next

Official approval of the Hughes proposal for the limitation of naval armament is the next important question efore the conference. Other major points are :

1 Limitation of Pacific Island fortifications.

2. Drafting of a treaty defining the new status of China as worked out by the Far Eastern committee.

3. Settlement of the Shantung question.

4. Settlement of the controversy between United States and Japan over the Island of Yap and other mandated islands in the Pacific.

British Press Approves Treaty

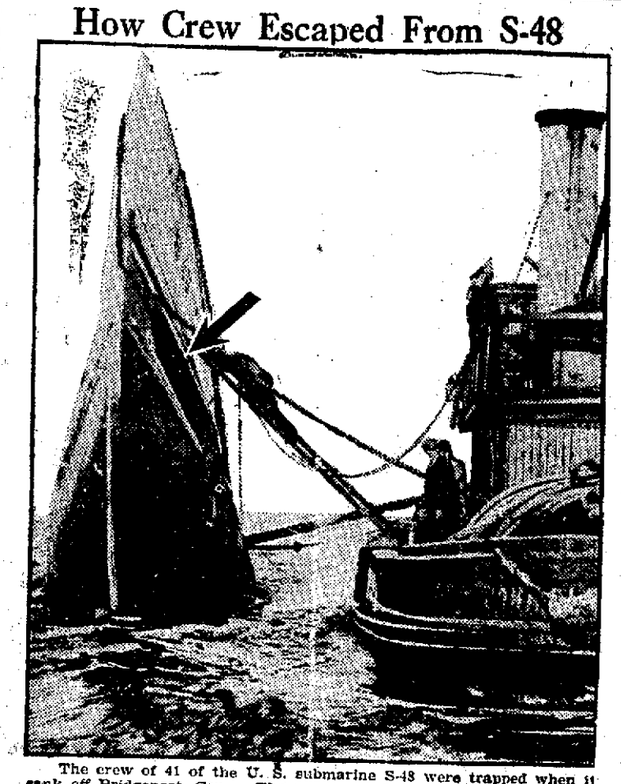
London, Dec. 12.—Britain, speaking through its press, extended a hearty welcome today to the new Four Lower Pacific Entente, supplanting the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. London newspapers were unanimous in their approval.

"The real thing at last" said the London Post, which heretofore has been lukewarm towards the plan.

Japs Retire Navy Officers

Tokio, Jap., Dec 12.—The transfer of ten rear admirals and many minor officials of the Japaneses navy to the waiting list from active service was announced today. This move is looked upon as preparatory to a heavy reduction of the navy.

How Crew Escaped From S-48



The crew of 41 of the U. S. submarine S-48 were trapped when it sank off Bridgeport, Conn. The men and officers crawled through the torpedo tube, indicated by arrow, when gas fumes filled the craft. The rescue boat is Standard Oil Tug 28.

FOUR MEN HURT AT DUBOIS WHEN BIG BOILER LETS GO

Two So Seriously Injured Removal To Hospital Necessary—All Scalded By Steam.

DuBois, Pa., Dec. 12.—As the result of an explosion inside of a boiler at the B. & S. No. 1 Shaft, Saturday four men were injured, two of them being so seriously hurt that they were taken to the Maple Avenue Hospital. The injured:

John Hockins, watchman, not seriously, taken home.

Fred Hockins, firemen, burned about the face, taken home.

Charles Murray, firemen, face, neck and hands burned, taken to Maple Avenue Hospital

Bert Keen, firemen, burned severely about the neck and arms, taken to Maple Avenue Hospital.

The men were at work on their regular duties, when something went wrong with one of the boilers and suddenly a flue blew out, throwing scalding steam over the four men.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF YOUNG ATTORNEY

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 12.—Investigation was started by the police here today in connection with the death of Ben L. Hunt, prominent young attorney.

Hunt it is claimed, purchased a bottle of what was said to have been "medicine", drank it and then called his wife on the phone and told her he was dying. He was dead when she arrived.

Strikers Dispersed By Riot Squads

Kansas City, Kans., Dec. 12.—A mob of 400 strike sympathizers that formed in front of the Armours Packing Co., plant here today were dispersed by police. There were no casualties reported.

Police riot squads drove the strikers who left guns and brass knuckles lying in the streets, across the state-line into Missouri where they scattered. Several shots were red into the mob in front of the plant but none took effect.

CHAS. W. MORSE TO FACE FEDERAL GRAND JURY SOON

New York Shipbuilder, Charged With Fraud, Arrives In New York Aboard Liner "Paris."

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The Department of Justice today announced the government will have Charles W. Morse ,ship builder,, here tomorrow to face charges of fraud in connection with ship building contracts during the war.

Officials said that Morse, who landed in New York today from the French liner Paris, will be required to come to Washington without a moments' delay The government has been in constant wireless communication with the Paris on its trip across the Atlantic. It is said that a government secret service man has accompanied Morse.

Grand Jury Investigating

A Federal Grand Jury is investigating charges aginst Morse and a large number of witnesses have been examined. Others are yet to testify it is said, but disposition of the case by the jury will not be long delayed.

District Attorney Gordon, it is said, have a Federal warrant charging Morse with conspirac y and embezzlement.

Morse Returns Voluntarily

Charles W. Morse, financier and shipbuilder, arrived from France today aboard the French liner Paris and will go immediately to Washington to face charges of ship building fraud.

Morse, who returned from France when the government cabled him to return voluntarily or be arrested, announced after consulting with his lawyers that he would take the 2:26 train for Washington.

He issued a statement declaring that before he left America he inquired of government officials and was informed that no charges were contemplated against him. He left openly, he said, and returned voluntarily, ready to fight any accusations against him.

NEW REIGN OF TERROR FEARED IN IRELAND

Representatives From North And South Ireland Confer Regarding New Irish Peace.

Dublin, Ire., Dec. 12.—A new reign of terror by opponents of the new Irish peace treaty was feared here today.

Reports of shooting, similar to those which occurred before the truce came to Dublin today and caused much apprehension.

Former Mayor Meade of Cork was shot to death in his place of business by masked assassins.

Another man was shot and wounded as he was walking along the streets of Cork. His assassins fired from ambush. During sporadic firing in Cork it was believed another man had been wounded.

Dublin, Ire., Dec. 12.—A conference between representatives of Northern and Southern Ireland, was under way here today, preliminary to Ulster's joining the Irish Free State.

Two important Ulster men, acting for Premier Sir James Craig, were closeted with Arthur Griffith and other Sinn Fein leaders who favor ratification of the peace treaty. Subjects under discussion were regarded as of the utmost importance.

Seeing that the overwhelming tread of public opinion in Ireland favored ratification of the puct, "President"" DeValera today is said to be planning to recede from his attitude of hostility toward the treaty after making a perfunctory fight against it.

Craig Counsels Prudence

Belfast, Ire., Dec.12.—"The treaty between Great Britain and Irelaid does not fulfill the solemn promise made Ulster" Premier Sir James Craig told Parliament here today. The situation is very grave—very serious, he warned.

Craig declared that Ulster is determined to support its ideals. "We will not swerve one inch" he said The Premier did, however counsel prudence until after the debate on the treaty.

SENATE OPPOSITION TO PEACE PACT IS SPIKED

Administration Officials Get Jump on Senate Opposition---Appointment of Lodge and Underwood a Factor

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—President Harding and his chief lieutenants have completed plans for crushing Senate opposition to the Pacific Treaty between United States, Great Britain, France and Japan.

They will offer the Senate the alternative of the Four Power treaty, which makes it safe for the United States to disarm ,or a continuation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance which makes it unsafe for the United States to disarm.

Harding's first move to check Senate opposition to the plan was his appointment of Senators Underwood and Lodge to the American delegation to the Arms Conference.

His second step was the selection of Senator Lodge, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to present the treaty to the Conference and make a speach about it. Lodge's speech was to the Senate quite as much as it was to the Conference and to it's guests.

The Administration opened the ratification fight before the Senate could voice criticism. Administration officals today said they had the "jump" on the opposition and intended to keep it. Harding, Hughes and Lodge all believe that Senators who fight the treaty are signing their own political death warrants.

Senatorial opponents to the treaty will launch a fight on it in the open senate at once. Senator Borah, of Idaho, who thus far has maintained silence on the question, is expected to lead the attack in a speech before the senate today or tomorrow.

GRAND JURY COMPLETES WORK, HANDS IN RECOMMENDATIONS

72 Bills Before Grand Jury---9 Nolled County Home Well Recommended

The December Grand Jury which completed its labors on Friday filed its return in Prothonotary Ralston's office. The report shows that the Grand Jury passed upon 72 bills of indictment, of which 63 were returned "True Bills" while 9 were returned "Not True Bills."

They recommend the following repairs to the county jail:

That the door in the public bath room be closed entirely with brick or stone in order that the room may be made warm enough for the prisoners using same. That iron mesh screen be placed over the ventilators in the cells and a window placed in the lower corridor to allow light in same, also that the plumbing be overhauled.

They also recommend that the old rug be removed from the Grand Jury room and the floor covered with linoleum; that a new top be put on the table and the coat rack be enlarged and that a lady's toilet be added to the Grand Jury room.

They recommend that more chairs be placed in the ladies' waiting room, also a coat rack and the room be given a general overhauling and renovating. They say the closet next the ladie's waiting room is in a filthy condition and as maintained is nothing more than a fire trap.

Of the County Home they say.—"We beg to report that we find the County Home in good shape and sanitary. Everything is kept in a cleanly condition We recommend that new floors be put down in the dining rooms, also in the men's hall on the second floor. The plumbing is badly in need of repairs throughout the building. That a complete set of aluminum drinking cups be furnished for the tables of both dining rooms and that a wheel chair be furnished for the use of the men's ward.

SECOND WEEK OF CIVIL COURT OPENS MONDAY

Grade Crossing Accident Suit First Case Up For Trial When Court Opens This Morning.

The second week of the December term of Civil Court opened this morning with Judge Bell presiding. The trial list for the week was gone over and a large number of cases reported ready for trial.

The first case taken up was that of John S. Davidson vs the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. This case grows out of a grade crossing accident which occurred at the Pennsy crossing at Blain City early last summer. Mr. Davidson's automobile was badly smashed in the wreck and suit is brought to recover for same and personal injuries suffered.

The plaintiff is represented by J. A. Gleason and John C. Arnold, while O'Laughlin, Fenerty and Kelly represent the railroad company.

IRVONA MAN SUES R. R. FOR TIMBER FIRE DAMAGES

Smith & Smith Esqs., entered suit in Prothonotary Ralston's office last Saturday in behalf of Nelson V. Hunter of Irvona, and against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for $1000 damages to timber land owned by the plaintiff.

The statement filed with the notice of suit recites that Hunter owns 103 acres of woods land in Jordan township and that on April 4, 1921, sparks from an engine on the Pennsylvania railroad started a fire which swept through the timber and destroyed $1000 worth of same.

Virginia Chocolate Shop Changes Hands Today

The Virginia Chocolate Shop located in the Liberty Theatre building changed hands today when Harry Mann purchased the place form Geo. W. Johnston who opened the same and has successfully conducted it for the past couple of years.

The new proprietor is no stranger to the Clearfield buying public as he managed Kurtz Brother's Stationery store for several years and is now employed at the Kurtz factory on Reed Street. He is a progressive business man and should make a success of his new venture.

Just Imagine!

Oldest Citizen Of Clearfield Has Birthday

The venerable Alexander Livingstone Clearfield's oldest citizen and about the aldest Odd Fellow in Pen usylvania celebrated his 95th birth day at his home, corner of Fourth and Cherry Streets Sunday, December 11th.

Mr. Livingstone is enjoying good health, possesses all his faculties, clear and unimpaired and is quite spry for a man of his advanced years. He spent the day quietly and in the afternoon accompanied his daughter Miss Mabel and grand son Bowman Brown on an automobile ride about the town and community.

REPORTS COMING IN FROM HUNTERS ALL OVER THE COUNTY

Latest Reports Show That Nearly Every Camp Is Swelling Quota—Several Does Are Reported Slain

Reports from the der hunters continue to reach us. Hon. Peter Gearhart of Lawrence Township who spent the week at the Carr Camp gave us the following information concerning the camps in the Montgomery Creek Country.

Dry Hollow or Carr Camp got four bucks. The successful hunters were Abe and Lex Bailey, Lloyd Gearhart and Curt Boal.

The Bickford Camp had four bucks.

Kelly Camp, another Curwensville aggregation also had four.

The Luthersburg Camp had four bucks.

The Anderson Camp got three bucks, the last one falling to the unerring aim of Charley Anderson, the old "buck hunter" who has landed his buck every year since Washington crossed the Delaware.

The Rishell Hollow, Chorpenning, Horn Shanty and Williams Camps along the Rockton Road had failed to score up to Saturday.

The Grampian Camp at Gum Swamp had three fine bucks up to Saturday.

The Panther Rocks boys raised their total to four on Friday afternoon when "Comrade" Thompson, better known as the Daniel Boone or Zenos Leonard of the outfit brought down a big nine pointer.

The Dry Hollow boys found a badly wounded doe a few rods above the Noms Shanty Friday afternoon. The deer had been shot through the body on Tinker's Ridge, nearby. Game protectors were notified and the animal put out of its misery and sent in to the hospital.

The doe found by the Prairie Rocks boys between the two prairies near Pine Spring was brought to town by Game-keeper Rearick on Friday last and turned over to County Commissioners who sent same to the Childrens Home.

Deputy Game Protector Gren W. Bell came in from Kennedy Park Game Reserve Saturday and reported twelve or thirteen illegal deer killed in the Penfield road section. The majority of these illegal deer were immature buck fawns and it is expected that the violators af the law will be

FOREST POLICY OF DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE INSURES GOOD RESULTS

Fire Protection, Regulation Of Tree Cutting And Classification Of Forests Accomplished.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 12.—On the policy of 16 years standing, National Forests of the United States are at the present time administered by the Department of Agriculture in such a way as to promote the greatest possible utilization for all purposes and at the same time the great est possible growth of timber, the Secretary of Agriculture states in his annual report to the President made public today. The administration of the forests under the policy developed by the department, the Secretary states, includes provisions for the following:

Protection from fire.

Regulation of cutting, tree planting and forest management to secure the maximum growth of timber.

Full utilization of forage resources for livestock raising.

Classification of the forest lands and the elimination of areas most suitable for farming.

Use of the lands for a wide range of purposes, including industrial developments and recreation.

The fullest possible development of water powers.

The readjustment of boundaries to include forest lands and, to exclude other lands.

In the administration of this policy, the Secretary states, the well-being of local communities, largely agricultural, is a primary consideration. The policy also contemplates, in the language of the Secretary:

"The extension of the National Forests through the purchase of lands which will protect the watersheds of navigable streams. The National Forests established by Executive order or by legislation now cover the headwaters of nearly all the important streams beyond the Mississippi and protect enormous investments in irrigation work, irrigable farms and hydro-electric development. They are now slowly being extended by purchase over the watersheds of navivable streams in the eastern States and should be extended still further as rapidly as possible.

"This policy represents today the most striking application of public foresight to land problems in the history of the United States.

"Scientific research with a view to "Ascertaining and demonstrating through the activities of forest experiment stations the cheapest and most effective methods of growing MISS MEDIA SHAW ihll the maximum timber crops of the best species.

"Products investigations centered mainly at the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., to ascertain and demonstrate means of preventing waste and the most effective means for the maunfacture and utilization of our forest resources. These investigations are designated to extend the life of our present resources, reduce to a minimum the production necessary to meet future requirements, and indirectly to make the growing of timber more profitable.

"Investigations of timber resources, the extent of forest lands, and other economic questions, such as timber taxation, in order to secure data which must underlie the development and application of a national-forest policy.

"Dissemination of information and cooperation with States, timberland owners, and farmers in the protection and management of public and privately owned forests and farm woodlots. These activities include:

"Fire protection through co-operation between the Federal Government, the State governments and private owners.

"Cooperation with the management of privately owned timberlands to check their devastation and assure the continued use for timber growing of lands not better suited for other purposes.

"The dissemination of information which will make possible greater and better production on the 200,000,000 acres of farm woodlots owned by the individual farmers of the Nation. Woodlot products now rank in value as one of the first three or four principal farm crops of the country. The yield of these farm woodlots can be immensely increased by better methods.

"Publicly owned forests with the greatest additions which can be anticipated can not alone meet our requirements for wood. The department is therefore attempting by all means at its disposal to secure the adoption of a national policy for the production of timber on the privately owned lands most suitable for this purpose."

An administrative force remarkable for its efficiency has been built up and trained in this work, the Secretary says. He continues:

"Methods of cutting timber have been developed under which the forest reproduces naturally, and these requirements have been so harmonized with practical limitations of lumbering that the demand for national-forest timber has grown steadily. The condition of the national forest ranges has been very greatly improved and at the same time the stock which they can support without damage has been increased by approximately one-third. A system of fire protection has been established which has stimultaed fire protection throughout the United States and is serving as a model to State and private agencies alike. In general, all national-forest resources have been brought into use. Western public sentiment, at first decidedly hostile, now almost universally supports the present form of administration and western stockmen have even gone so far in many instances as to demand the extension of the national-forest system of range movement to the remaining public grazing lands, in short, the national forests are now vindicated by their fruits.

"Some 2,000,000 acres of forest lands have been purchased at the headwaters of navigable streams in the East, and these have ben placed under an administration comparable with those of the western forests. favorable progress in purchases was made during the past year.

"Forest products investigations, which at their initiation were ignored by the forest industries of the country, have through the demonstration of their benefits permeated the forest industries almost without exception and have given an entirely new conception of the possibilities in the conservation, manufacture and utilization of forest products. A beginning has been made in the establishment of forest experiment stations which should be rapidly as possible be extended to cover at least all of the principal forest regions of the country. Notable contributations have been made to our knowledge of remaining timber supplies and related economic subjects.

"Information on the need for timber growing and the best methods for growing and utilizing timber have been widely disseminated. Public opinion has been aroused until now there is a powerful Nation wide support for the adoption of a national policy which will bring about the growing of timber on privately owned lands to supplement that which can be produced on national forests and other public holdings:

INDUSTRIAL PICK-UP IS REPORTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Survey Of State Shows Many Idle Workers Are Gradually Getting Back On Job Again.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 12.—U(nited Press—Weather conditons, the holidays, and the gradual completion of work for the year 1921 have been responsible for the slight improvement in the unemployment situation since the middle of last month according to the Employment Bureau of the Department of Labor and Industry.

Despite the general slump in placement, industry is reported to be in good condition, with many plants working full time. A widespread rush seems to be on to complete buildings by the first of the year.

The coal mining industry seems to have been affected by the relatively mild season. With the first cold snap it is predicted the mines will resume operations on a full time basis. Reports from Scranton show that the mines are working on three-fourth time in the anthracite region, but the report that cold weather will result in an increase demand for domestic sizes is made, which would naturaly mean increased time for the miners. Fifty per cent operation is generaly reported in the bituminous mines with unsettled conditions prevailing.

Many Mines Idle in Pittsburgh District

Pittsburgh reports many miners of all nationalites out of work and willing to go anywhere to get employment. Union miners are working part time in the McKeesport district with most of the wagon miners operating full time to supply the local demand. The large mines in the New Kensington area are running full time. The non-union mines in the Johnstown district are running six days a week.

There is still room for improvement in the railroad situation of the State. Reports from Altoona, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Erie and Pittsburgh show that there are still hundreds of railroads men out of work. However, the same reports indicate that there is a demand for their services in repair shops and yards, with openings coming daily, so that within a few weeks a number of these men will be placed. In Philadelphia, the Pennsylvania Railroad recalled a number of men for yard-service and shop work. Many have be recalled from the ranks of the furloughed in the Altoona district during the last two weeks. The same report comes from Erie, but it is also indicated that the peculiar situation at the Port of Erie will mean an increase in employment. In a short time navigation will be closed and the tonnage to and from the port will be decreasd.

Industry Shows Spurt

The textile industry has been given a spurt with the arrival of orders in Altoona, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Scranton. In the latter city a slight improvement in the silk industry is shown, but in clothing manufacture a decided slump is reported. In Altoona, shirt, cap and overall factories are working full time. The improvement during the two weeks past has been made in Altoona. Approximately 1,500 were removed from the unemployment ranks in this district during this period.

The Philadelphia situation is greatly improved although figures fail to show a material reduction in unemployment. The total for the present period is 750 less than the figure announced two weeks ago.

Building continues there with the construction of homes, garages and renovating old buildings, although the weather has prevented sustained operations. No marked force reductions have been announced and the larger plants are reported operating from two to four days a week. There are 128,000 men out of work and 11,600 women still seeking jobs in the Philadelphia district.

Japan is called "the land of blades" by its own people, some of the old scholars having declared that the first sword was invented by the same god who invented poetry. DOG LICENSES FOR 1922 SENT TO CO. TREASURER

May Be Secured Any Time After Next Mon. —7,000 Tags Sent For Use In Clearfield Co.

Clearfield County's supply of dog license tags and blanks for 1922 have been forwarded to the County Treasurer and the license fees can be paid at the Treasurers' office and the new license tags secured any time after next Monday. There have been 7000 individual license tags and 100 kennel tags forwarded to the County Treasurer's office and it is believed this number will supply the demands of Clearfield County for the coming year.

Last year there were 2,584 licenses issued in Clearfield County while the county paid out $1,053.45 in claims for loss of injury of sheep, poultry and livestock. The bureau of animal industry of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has been designated as the agency for the enforcement for the new dog law which becomes effective on January 15, next, and under the provisions of which the new licenses are being issued. Officials of the bureau will co-operate with the local police in an effort to reduce the county's losses and also to see that every dog in the county is properly licensed.

Every Dog Mus have License

Under the provisions of the "Dog Law of 1921" every owner or keeper of a dog six months old or over must secure a dog license on or before January 15, 1922.

Application for such license may be made direct to the County Treasurer or through any Notary Public, Justice of the Peace, Alderman or Magistrate of the district where such owner or keeper resides. Application forms are furnished by the County Treasurer to such officers.

The license fee is ..... out the state, with the exception of cities of the first and second class, $1.10 for each male or spayed female dog and $2.10 for each female dog.

The County Treasurer is allowed a fee of 10 cents for each license issued whether the application is made direct to him or through the local office.

Where the application is made thru a local officer an additional fee of 15 cents is allowed for the service of such officer in preparing and forwarding same together with license fee to the County Treasurer. Self addressed and stamped envelopes must also be enclosed where application is mailed the County Treasurer.

Where it is inconvenient for an applicant to call personally at the office of the County Treasurer and such applicant desires to secure the license direct from the County Treasurer, he can secure an application blank from the County Treasurer prepare the same and mail it with the required fees and return stamped envelope direct to the County Treasurer.

Indemnity blanks for reporting damages to livestock and poultry done by dogs can be secured from the County Treasurer and also the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

Cash Payments Hurt His Credit.

A story is told in the business world of a man who, paradoxically enough, could not get a charge account in a certain department store because he always paid cash for his purchases at the butcher's, the grocer's, etc. Application for an account was made at the store in question, and in due time the usual inquiries were made. Everything seemed to be going along swimmingly until it was discovered that in his neighborhood purchases the man had always paid cash. The question immediately came up in the mind of the credit man as to why the prospective customer should want to buy dry goods on credit when he paid "ready money" for meat, groceries and sundries. This coupled with the fact that the man had never asked any store for an account before, led to his being refused.

Thus, an infant born on October 31, 1900, a couple of minutes before twelve o'clock of the night of that day, would attain his majority on the first moment of October 30, 1921, although it will be forty-eight hours, less two minutes, before he will have lived for twenty-one years.

Nuts Fit Holes in Trees.

While in California last winter the writer saw several oak tree trunks pitted as if by smallpox. The holes are made by woodpeckers, and in every hole is an acorn placed there by squirrels. The nuts are so firmly imbedded that it is impossible to remove them with the fingers.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

Dr. Evan O'Neil Kane, the McKean County physician, whose well known hatred for dogs is so deep seated that he went at it single handed and alone some time since and removed his own "dog gut" as the vermiform appendix is some times inelegantly styled, is now out in a further bid for the limelight of "pitiless publicity" by advocating that all children be forced to have their appendix removed shortly after they enter this tempetuous life.

Dr. Kane says that many thousands of lives are lost annually from acute appendicitis while the appendix is also responsible for many cases of acute indigestion, chronic indigestion, ulcer, and cancer of the stomach. He says it is also a carrier of germ diseases and he ought to know for he watched his own appendix function for a time after hacking into it and then recorded for publication in the newspapers the "drop, drop" of every single drop of his own red gore as it trickled from the wound.

The year 1921 has been the healthiest year in the history of both the United States and Canada according to the records of thirty seven leading American Insurance Companies. The figures for the first ten months indicate a lowering of the death rate among policy holders from 9.80 per thousand last year to 8.24 per thousand in 1921.

Among the striking things shown by the figures which cover 27,000,000 persons are that influenza has almost disappeared from the United States and Canada and that pneumonia has decreased 50 percent from 1920. On the other hand, mortalities due to automobile accidents—bacillus automobilis" it is referred to in the report—show a 15 percent increase with an indication of 10,000 deaths from this cause. Homicides and suicides also show large increases.

One of the Country's leading physicians in a recent magazine article certainly "hit the nail on the head" when he said that it is getting to a point now-a-days when none but the very wealthy or the very poor can afford to get sick, what with hospital tolls, doctors fees and nurses exactions.

The up-to-date hospital, the competent trained nurse and the skilled physician are and have been a boon to all mankind, but if present tendencies this country over, continue to maintain, only a few and of the classes mentioned will be saved, so what doth it profit the rest? As a sample of what the eminent physician condemned Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore he said incurerd the wrath of many eminent surgeons by attempting to fix a maximum fee or $1,000 for an operation.

Hospital authorities do not generally appear to be getting back very fast to pre-war normalcy in regard to fees and charges.

It is no longer considered good housekeeping to overlook, between semi-annual housecleanings, the continual accumulation of germ-breeding dirt in the depths of one's rugs. For a new standard of cleanliness, that of rugs kept totally free of dirt the year around, has been introduced by The Hoover. This efficient cleaner thereby minimizes the danger of sickness and repeatedly saves its moderate cost by preserving all rugs from wear. In one easy, rapid, dustless operation guaranteed to prolong rug life, it gently beats out all germ-laden, nap-wearing grit from beneath rug surfaces, electrically sweeps up stubbornest litter, erects trodden nap, revives colors and suction cleans. Only The Hoover does all this. Get a Hoover and live in an ever-clean home.

THE MERCHANTS IN THIS COMMUNITY

Did you ever really give the subject of the local merchant and you any serious thought?

Perhaps you are a loyal citizen and patronize local shops and stores as a matter of loyalty, but as this is not a lecture it will do no harm to read this, anyhow.

If you are one of the misguided folks who imagine you can do better elsewhere by all means read this!

Your local merchant is first a citizen, a resident of your community the same as you are.

He lives in your community, pays taxes along with you for the upkeep and improvement of your community; he raises his family and sends his children to school—schools which he helps, with you, to maintain.

If he is a butcher, he buys clothes and shoes for his family from his fellow-merchant. No matter what his line of business, he spends money with other business men of the community.

He banks in local banks; he takes his family of an evening to the local shows.

Summed up, the money he makes in the community is spent in it.

Were it not for your local merchant there would be no schools, no paved streets, no public schools, no progress nor prosperity. He is here day in and day out, rain or shine, giving his time and energy and money to whatever will benefit the district, taking part in the administrations of the community or aiding to regulate the administration for the best interests of the community by his vote.

HE IS A CITIZEN!

Is he not entitled, then, to consideration?

But there is something more than a call for your loyalty to him as citizen to citizen—neighbor to neighbor.

Living here as he does, he comes to know his customers. They are to him not "just customers," but "fellow citizens;" "good neighbors." As he will be here tomorrow and the next day and next year, meeting his customers face to face, day after day, his business gets his personal attention—every transaction is a personal dealing between him and the patron.

He is not your huge store where thousands flock in daily, many for the one time only. He is not your fly-by-night get-'em-once-and-gouge-'em-good fakir.

He is your neighbor—your fellow citizen, building for tomorrow and next year, and fully cognizant that the only way to build is to sell good goods at right prices.

Your local merchant is in himself a guarantee of his goods and prices and services because he is always at the same stand meeting largely the same customers.

He cannot exist upon the patronage of transients—his livelihood comes from permanent residents; his aim is to make permanent residents regular customers. He must do this—hence his wares, his prices and his service are all and always arranged and held to this end.

You never heard your live-wire, wide-awake home merchant say, "Oh, well, one customer more or less makes no difference." Every customer, to him, is important; a new customer is eagerly sought, and a customer less—well, your local merchant will not let it happen if anything just and reasonable under the sun will prevent such a thing happening.

So not alone out of a sense of loyalty to your community but for your own sake—for the sake of your purse and the satisfaction of being given personal attention and service—buy of your home merchants.

WARS EAT UP THE TAXES

When I set out to discover for you where the money you pay as federal taxes goes I did not have far to look. It goes for wars, past, present and prospective. Last year a little over 90 per cent of the national income went that way. In the report of the secretary of the treasury submitted to congress in December, 1920, he remarks:

An analysis of government expenditures for the fiscal year 1920, on the basis of daily treasury statements, develops the striking fact that of the net ordinary disbursements of $6,403,000,000 about 90 per cent consisted of expenditures under the following heads:

Purchase of obligations of foreign governments	$ 421,000,000
War department	2,014,000,000
Navy department	739,000,000
Shipping board	531,000,000
Federal control of transportation systems and payments to the railroads under the transportation act, 1920	1,027,000,000
Interest on the public debt	1,020,000,000
Pensions	218,000,000
War-risk insurance	117,000,000
Purchase of federal farm-loan bonds	30,000,000
Total	$5,716,000,000

Substantially all the expenditures entering into this total, and a large share of the expenditures on various minor accounts, represent burdens directly traceable to the war, to past wars or to preparedness for future wars. These figures serve to indicate the direction which sincere efforts to reduce the cost of the government must take.

Then I found Mr. Gilbert, the undersecretary of the treasury, saying:

There has been much idle talk to the effect that the excessive cost of government is due to inefficiency and extravagance in the executive departments. Without doubt there has been waste and inefficiency in the various government departments and establishments, and much can be accomplished, and has already been accomplished, by the introduction of efficient and economic methods of administration and the elimination of duplication and unnecessary work. It might well be possible to save as much as $50,000,000 or $100,000,000 by careful and scientific reorganization of the government's business.

The figures show that over 90 per cent of the total annual expenditures of the government are related to war. Out of total expenditures during 1920 of about $6,400,000,000, about 5½ billions represented expenditures directly traceable to the war, to past wars, or to preparedness for future wars. Of this, about $2,500,000,000 went for the army and navy, over $300,000,000 for the shipping board, over $1,000,000,000 for the railroads, another $1,000,000,000 for interest on the public debt, almost $500,000,000 for purchase of obligations of foreign governments on account of their war expenditures, and the remainder for pensions, war risk allotments and miscellaneous items related to war. An analysis of the expenditures of the first six months of the fiscal year 1921 gives similar results. The figures also show that the total cost of running what may be termed the civil establishment proper, that is to say, the various government departments, boards and commissions and the legislative establishment, have not much exceeded $250,000,000 even in the so-normal war years.

I sought details. If more than 90 per cent of the entire disbursements of 1920 went for past and prospective wars, how much had we been spending to keep the world safe for democracy? We are all familiar with the argument that the best way to prevent war is to be prepared for war. I thought I might find out whether that was true. I went back into the records and found that year by year from 1834 to 1919 inclusive the treasury department had kept an account of the actual disbursements—not appropriations, mind you, but actual money expended—of the War department, the Navy department and for pensions. When I got all the figures before me I couldn't add them up.

In the bureau of internal revenue they loaned me a machine and an operator, and so I know and can tell you that from 1834 to and through 1919 the War Department actually disbursed $28,002,390,008.65. In the same period the Navy Department spent $6,907,369,032.84; and pensioners of past wars got $5,634,079,694.23.

That is a thundering total of $29,909,759,041.49 for the army and navy alone, leaving out of account the $5,634,079,604.23 for pensions.

I will let you decide whether any part of the twenty-nine billion dollars spent for preparedness and for war prevented our going to war or found us prepared when we went to war. The three items I have enumerated are only ribs of the skeleton of the cost of war preparation and activity. I have not been able to excavate any other detail figures. But it is known that the war of 1812 cost about $138,703,880.

The cost of the Mexican war is estimated to have been $63,605,621.

The total cost of the Civil war, taking the period from June 30, 1861, to June 30, 1866, may be figured closely at $3,500,000,000.

The treasury in the winter of 1920-21 estimated in a report sent to congress through the secretary that the cost of the World war to us to that date had been $24,100,000,000, exclusive of our loans to the allies and other foreign nations.

So you see the cost of wars is going up, no matter how much money we spend by way of preparation.

THE BURDEN OF TAXES

Before the war the government of the United States spent about one billion dollars a year for all purposes, including interest on the public debt. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the first full fiscal year after fighting stopped, the government spent in round figures six billion four hundred million dollars. In the fiscal year 1921, that is, up to June 30, 1921, it spent $5,115,927,680.30, and in the fiscal year of 1922, which will end on June 30, 1922, it will spend more than four billion dollars, says Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department.

These figures include interest on the public debt which amounts to about one billion dollars, but include nothing for sinking fund or other debt redemption. Including both interest and sinking fund, the government will spend more than four times as much the fiscal year 1922 as it spent yearly before the war.

These expenditures and these heavy charges are a part of the price of victory. Your whole present problem is to curtail them. It concerns you to know just how these immense sums were gathered and how much you paid and are paying toward them, for of course we, the tax payers, the men and women with jobs, the men and women who have what the census calls gainful occupations, paid every cent of it. It was our money until the government took it.

Let us examine the fiscal year 1920. I have not the detailed account for 1921, but it was slightly less than the year previous, as the year ending June 30, 1922, will be a slightly less burden on us than the year preceding. According to a careful analysis made by the late Dr. E. B. Rosa, of the United States bureau of standards, a government scientist who was deeply and intelligently interested in the subject, every man, woman and child in this country contributes an average of fifty-three dollars in taxes to the support of the national government. Actually it is nearer fifty-four than fifty-three dollars, but I am taking the smaller sum for the sake of the round number. That is, the average family of five persons pays $265 a year out of its earnings to the federal government alone, in addition to what is paid for state, county and city taxes. The estimated average yearly income of a family of five is something more than $700. But before any of that $700 is spent $265 must be turned over to the general government to run the business of the United States.

The actual amount that each one of us paid was $53.77. We paid it through the medium of internal revenue taxes and customs duties on imported articles divided as follows:

	Per Capita
Income and excess profit	$17.20
Cigars and tobacco	2.77
Transportation and other utilities	2.72
Autos, candy, furs, jewelry, etc.	2.52
Beverages	1.86
Special taxes on capital stock, etc.	.99
Estate inheritance	.97
Stamps on legal papers, etc.	.79
Admissions to amusements, etc.	.77
Insurance and miscellaneous	.23
Total	$53.77

The taxpayer is next of kin to the treasury. At any rate he is the first person notified when the treasury needs money, and he always has to dig down into his jeans for whatever is needed. Taxpaying, even more than charity, begins at home. The boy's best friend is his mother, but the taxpayer's only friend is himself. The only thing that can be done for him is to disclose as vividly as possible how much his government is costing and let him decide what he will do about it. It all comes down to this: The more money the government spends through defective organization or extravagance, the less you have to spend or save.

So much for the cost of the national business we support. We are all minority stockholders. The concern has no other source of revenue than our contributions. It doesn't make any money. In times like these, when almost everybody feels that he gets too little for what he sells and has to pay too much for what he buys, it seems to me the least we can do is to take an active and intelligent interest in this great common enterprise of ours and make sure that it is well organized; that it doesn't waste or spend extravagantly; that the employees are paid an adequate wage and have proper working conditions; that their morale is kept high and their enthusiasm in our interest unabated; in fine, that as a business it shall be conducted as efficiently and economically and on as modern scientific principles as any large private business.

Is it?

That is a question you must answer for yourself after I have acquainted you with the actual situation and condition.

WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES

I am indebted to the late Dr. E. B. Rosa, of the United States bureau of standards, whose analyses of government expenditures I have already quoted in these articles, for the following comprehensive survey of how the taxes you pay to the government are apportioned in expenditures. It will give you the clearest and best idea of where your money goes. For his purpose Doctor Rosa took the actual appropriations for the fiscal year 1920, amounting to a total of $5,686,005,706, as given in the regular supply bills and three deficiency bills prior to May 1, 1920. For convenience he divided the purposes for which this money was spent into six groups as follows:

Group I.—Obligations arising from recent and previous wars, including interest on the public debt, pensions, war-risk insurance, rehabilitation and care of soldiers, deficit in the operation of railways, expenditures of the shipping board, European food relief and the bonus to government employees to cover partially the increased cost of living due to the war, a total of $3,855,482,586.

Group II.—War and Navy departments—expenses somewhat above a permanent peace-time basis—$1,424,138,677.

Group III.—Primary governmental functions, including congress, President and White House staff, courts and penal establishments, departments of justice, state, treasury, interior, commerce, labor, interstate commerce, and other commissions, one-half the District of Columbia, including all the necessary functions of government other than defense, except the commercial activities of Group V and the research, educational and developmental work of Group VI—$181,087,225.

Group IV.—Public works, including rivers and harbors, public buildings, reclamation service, post roads, national parks and railway in Alaska—$168,203,557.

Group V.—Commercial or self-supporting activities, including the post office, land office, Panama canal and housing corporation, which, taken together, earn their expenses.

Group VI.—Research, educational and developmental, including the wide range of work of the Agricultural department, geological survey, bureau of mines, coast and geodetic survey, bureau of standards, bureau of fisheries, bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, bureau of labor statistics, women's and children's bureaus, vocational education, colleges for agriculture and mechanic arts, library of congress, Smithsonian institution and the public health service—$57,093,861.

Total groups I to VI—$5,686,005,706.

Summary.

		Per Cent
Group I—Expenditures arising from recent and previous wars	$3,855,482,586.60	67.81
Group II—War and Navy departments	1,424,138,676.57	25.02
Group III—Primary governmental functions	181,087,225.41	3.19
Group IV—Public works	168,203,557.46	2.97
Group VI—Research, educational and developmental	57,093,860.93	1.01
Total	$5,686,005,706.97	100.00

The first two groups together amount to 92.8 per cent of the total; public works amounts to 3 per cent, primary governmental functions 3.2 per cent, and research, educational and developmental work, 1 per cent. The population of the country being about 110,000,000, the total budget is about fifty dollars a year per capita, of which fifty cents a year per capita is expended for the wide range of research, educational and developmental work included in Group VI.

"That is, of the fifty dollars a year per capita collected for all purposes, a dollar and a half a year per capita," Doctor Rosa went on to point out, "was spent for what is here called primary functions of government; nearly as much more was put into public works, and fifty cents a year was put back into research, educational and developmental work, to promote scientific research, to increase production and efficiency, to develop wealth, to promote the public health and to conserve our natural resources. That is a very small part of the total—hardly enough to be regarded as a burden on the nation.

"Indeed, one is led to wonder whether the total burden of taxation would not be lighter if the expenditure for scientific and developmental work were increased; if, for example, it were one dollar a year per capita instead of fifty cents. In other words, if $110,000,000 were expended annually for this creative and productive work, would it not be easier to collect the five and a half billions for other purposes?"

The big money, of course, goes for war, past, present and future, and that is where the saving must be made.

Thirty thousand persons are killed or injured in the United States every day.

Churches' Glory.

Men say their church pinnacles point to heaven. Why, so does every tree that buds and every bird that sings. Men say their aisles are good for worship. Why, so is every mountain glen and rough sea shore. But this the churches have of distinct and indisputable glory—that their mighty walls were never raised and never shall be but by men who love and aid each other in their weakness.—John Ruskin.

Fish-Eating Birds.

Millions of fish are eaten monthly by the cormorant flocks on the Chincha island near Peru. The cormorants build their nests close together; from 15,000 to 20,000 are frequently found within an area of 5,500 square yards.

ARE YOU PROPERLY PAID FOR THE TIME YOU SPEND WITH THE WEEK'S WASH?

Many housekeepers, right here in town, friends and neighbors of yours, are actually making wash-day pay them dividends by sending all their washings to us.

The time saved from washing is devoted by them to buying the week's household supplies at Monday's bargain prices. They have more time, too, for mending and sewing; for planning tasty but economical meals. They're finding a dozen new ways of having, and, best of all, they're saving themselves—they haven't the dread of Blue Monday always before them.

Make this experiment in your home. Have us call for your bundle this week. We wash everything carefully; iron all the heavier pieces, fluff the bath towels, woolens and underwear ready for use, and leave to you the ironing of only the light pieces.

This service costs only a few cents a pound. Compare that cost with the value of your own time and the price you're paying now for fuel and supplies. Then phone us, and we'll have our representative call promptly.

STRIKE OF DIST. 1 MINERS HINGES ON CONFERENCE

Miners In And Around Wilkes-Barre Allege Standing Grievances Not Adjusted.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 12.—Whether there will be a strike of 10,000 mine workers of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company tomorrow hinged today on the conference here between Supt. Thomas of the Lehigh Coal Co and W. A Brennen, president of District No 1, United Mine Workers of America. The conference was still in session this afternoon.

Alleged refusal of the company to adjust standing grievances was the cause given by the committee in calling for a general walkout. If the order goes into effect 11 collieries will be effected. The mines are located in and around Wilkesbarre.

Unfavorable working conditions, making it impossible for some miners to earn more than $16 or $20 in two weeks was given by the workers as one of their major grievances.

Eagles and Vultures.

The main difference between the eagle and that group of birds known as vultures is that the former will attack living things, while the latter will not. In other respects, the eagle is not far removed from vultures in either structure or disposition.

WHISTLE BROUGHT HIM FAME

Restaurant Cook, Harry Keynston Jones, Famous as Author of "Rose of No Man's Land."

From out the bustling kitchen of a popular summer resort restaurant near St. Paul, Minn., there issued during the vacation season lilting songs and whistled ditties that sounded so strangely familiar that American Legion service men of the World war decided to investigate. They found the musician to be one Harry Keynston Jones, a five-foot-ten Cockney, also the restaurant cook.

Jones began his musical career as chef of a Winnipeg grenadier regiment during the war. Later he tended the private skillet of Gen. Sir Julian Byng at Vimy Ridge, and more important than that, he wrote "Rose of No Man's Land." The war song that had a long run of popularity. A penny whistle which he bought and played for the prime purpose of amusing his kitchen pelter caused his rise to music fames, he declared.

In France he was transferred to the officers' mess. There Lieutenant Colonel McRae, who later wrote "In Flanders Fields," heard the penny whistling, and the two became friends. Some time afterward they together turned out the words and music of the No Man's Land song.

Jones, wounded at Cambrai, was invalided back to Canada. After his discharge from the hospital he began a sightseeing tour of the states, depending upon his cooking ability for ready employment. He now has a song with a New York publisher which he hopes to put forth soon.

HEADS WAR DISABLED SCHOOL

Dr. Arthur Davis Dean, Veteran of the World War and Educator of Wide Experience.

Dr. Arthur Davis Dean, recently chosen by the government as school superintendent of all America's war disabled, is himself a veteran of the World war as well as an educator of wide experience and a specialist in vocational training.

During the war, Dr. Dean, a major in the sanitary corps, worked on the physical and mental reinstitution of the sick and wounded as they were returned to the United States in almost all the large government hospitals of the country. With nine years' experience in vocational education work in New York state, he served as head of the division of vocational schools in the state department of education from 1908 to 1917, when he became professor of vocational education in Teachers' college, Columbia university. He directed the New York state prison survey in 1919 and investigated the possibilities of industrial and agricultural education in Porto Rico for the insular government.

Dr. Dean was born Sept. 15, 1872, at Cambridge, Mass., and was educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a member of Columbia university post of the American Legion.

FOR AD RESULTS—PROGRESS

ONE-ARMED VET ALMOST WON

Ernest Mastros, Second in Swimming Race; Wounded Buddies Winner and Third in Sprint.

The throng of spectators who watched the finish of an exciting sprint during a swimming meet in Madison Square Garden, New York, recently vigorously applauded the efforts of Ernest Mastros, a little chap who brought up in second place. Their enthusiasm was heightened when the race had finished and they saw Mastros as he was climbing out of the big tank. He had lost his left arm, serving with the American forces in France, and he all but won the event, by the sole power of his good right and his abundance of gameness.

However, the winner of the race, William McIntyre, also was wounded in France, the surprised crowd learned later, as was Harold E. Taylor, who finished a close third in the same match. The trio of wounded war veterans are members of the Metropolitan Life post of the American Legion, formed of men and women employees of the life insurance company who served during the World war.

ARE DRAWN UP WITH WATER

Simple Explanation of Showers of Fish Which Are Reported as Occasionally Occurring.

Showers of fishes occasionally fall in different parts of the world, exciting great astonishment. Instances of this kind have occurred in England. On one occasion a shower of small three-spined sticklebacks fell near Merthyr-Tydvil, in Wales, sprinkling the ground and housetops over a large area. If caught up by a whirlwind from any of the brackish ponds near the sea, in which this species of fish abounds, they must have been conveyed through the air a distance of almost thirty miles. Another similar instance occurred at Torrens, in the Isle of Mull, in which herrings were found strewed on a hill 500 yards from the sea and 100 feet above it. Such downfalls are more common in tropical countries. In India a shower of fishes varying from a pound and a half to three pounds in weight has been reported. Sometimes the fishes are living, more frequently they are dead, and sometimes dry or putrifying. They are always of kinds abundant in the sea or fresh waters of the neighborhood. The occurrence of the phenomenon is readily explained by the partial vacuum and strong updraught produced in the center of a tornado. Such a whirling column, if passing over the surface of a lake or river or of the sea, may suck up a considerable quantity of the water along with any living creatures that may be in it. This may be carried for a considerable distance, and is discharged as a waterspout or cloudburst when the rotational energy of the whirl is expended.

MIND HYPNOTIZED BY SIGNS

One Reason Why City Man Fails to Familiarize Himself With the Town's Landmarks.

"Do you know why it is so hard to keep landmarks in your head in the city these days?" asked the old-timer.

"It is something that has bothered me a great deal. I can remember that up to ten or twenty years ago I never had any trouble remembering that on such and such a corner was a three-story building with a wabbly tin cornice. On another corner was a yellow warehouse, etc.

"But a fellow doesn't remember these things any more unless he makes it a duty. I mean that the mind is no longer impressed photographically with the appearance of buildings—or vacant lots.

"The reason is the advertising signs that assault the eye everywhere you looks. The letters of the alphabet are so familiar to the eye that when we see a sign the eye at once begins tracing the letters and this doesn't mean that we read all those signs. Our eye is just unconsciously attracted to the familiar type—and this type is about all it sees on a building or a vacant lot.

"I don't refer only to sign boards. The merchants nowadays, particularly the smaller merchants, fill their windows with signs of all [illegible] The names of the stores are [illegible] all across buildings. The result is we remember neither building nor [illegible]

TODAY'S NEWS TODAY—Progress

"God Be With Ye."

As a matter of fact we English-speaking folk have a word to say at parting which means a lot. "Good-by" is a contraction of "God be with ye," but not one person in a million thinks of this when using it. While we may not object to our butcher having divine guidance, the wish is certainly not in our mind when we say to him over the telephone: "Now don't forget about the lamb chops; good-by!"

Somewhat in Error.

Jud Tunkins says he knows some people who give lots of dinners under the impression that they're social leaders when they are only social feeders.

It Suggests Russia

The three-piece costume is quite the most useful part of milady's wardrobe. She insists that there be a hint of Russia about it. The caracul wrap which is part of this Claire costume, is an intriguing one, smartly enough cut to suggest an almost military line, yet distinctly feminine.

OMAHA LEGION SUES SPEAKER FOR LIBEL TALK

Claim Speaker Made False Statements As To Legion Stand On Union Question.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 12.—To "stop such contemptible lies and show union labor that we resent charges of being opposed to them," the American Legion of Nebraska by its commander, William Richie, Jr., has filed suit to collect $100,000 damages against F. H. Shoemaker, alleged libel in the courts of this city.

In a speech before a butchers union local, Shoemaker is quoted as having said that "the American Legion is an organization of trained murderers opposed to organized labor."

When questioned by the Legion commander, Shoemaker denied having made such a statement. He declared, however, according to Richie's suit that the Legion "has created labor disturbances in which men were killed;" that "the Legion is subsidized by big business and the packers have contributed to it," and that the ex-service men "are opposed to organized labor."

These statements, Richie said are "wicked, malicious and false."

Shoemaker says he is not a member of any union. His army record shows he was discharged after six days of service.

Richie's step, the first of its kind in the history of the Legion, is commended by George L. Berry, Nashville, Tenn., President of the International Printing Pressmen's Union, himself a world war veteran. In a telegram to labor leaders here and to Dennis Lane, Secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Chicago, Berry also requests the union officials to issue a statement and "take necessary additional action to nail the unjustifiable action and statements of Shoemaker and others that may be engaged in similar practices."

Dahlia Really Mexican.

There seems to be an impression that the first dahlias to be cultivated in Europe and America were single-flowered forms. This is a mistake; the very first species to be described and figured, dahlia pinnata, was a form with a simple or double head. It was propagated in the royal gardens at Madrid from roots of Mexican origin, and was named by the botanist Cavanilles in 1791 in honor of Andreas Dahl, a distinguished pupil of Lineus.

ALLEGED HAITIAN ATROCITIES ARE TOLD COMMITTEE

Witnesses Testify U. S. Troops Committed Horrible Atrocities—Tell Of Killings.

Santa Domingo, Dec. 12 —Stories of alleged military atrocities filled the record of the first ten days hearing by the Senatorial Committee investigating American occupation of Haiti and the Domingan Republic.

Gelicook Rozier testified that on June 18, 1919, he saw eight children, seven girls and one boy killed by forces under Capt. Becker.

H. Balloni, testified that in June, 1920, his father and mother were taken from their homes at midnight and shot. Their home was then burned, Balloni said.

S. Fleurina testified she saw her father, mother, sister and two young brothers shot.

J. Nord gave a detailed account of the killing of his wife.

Name Traced to Bullock.

Although there does not seem to be any connection between the two words, yet beef and Bosphorus are related. The strait was so named (according to one story) because a bullock (Latin bos, Greek bous) swam that body of water. Beef is derived through boeuf from bos, the accusative case of which is bovem or bouem.

WILL ALLOW XMAS TREE CUTTING IN STATE FORESTS

Department Of Forestry Announces Trees May Be Cut Under Supervision Of Foresters.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec 12.—The Pennsylvania Department of Forestry announced it will permit Christmas Trees to be removed from State Forests under the supervision of District Foresters. In no case will forest officers give permission to cut a tree unless its removal benefits the forest.

Gifford Pinchot, the State's Chief Forester, has issued the following instructions covering the granting of requests for Christmas trees.

"The District Foresters will undoubtedly receive requests from communities and individuals for Christmas trees from State Forest land. Choice specimens, such as can ill be spared, will naturally be desired.

"Requests from individuals should be dealt with strictly from the point of view of the forest. If the forest is benefitted the request may be granted; if it is not benefitted, the request must necessarily be denied.

"Requests for Community Christmas trees should be complied with provided no serious injury to the forest is entailed. A tree cut for such a purpose does real and widespread good, and therefore cannot be considered as a dead loss. While the forests must in all cases be protected, the use of a tree for a community tree is entirely legitimate."

Jade and Its Properties

The modern mind is scarcely able to sympathize with the old oriental attitude toward the precious qualities of jade, esteeming it for its esthetic properties. In its evolution as an art object a parallel might be drawn between it and the worship of the gods of Greece; as they failed in power and respect shown them they were not wasted, but became excellent material for poetry.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Lemuel Bolles of Seattle, Wash., has been elected national adjutant of the American Legion for his third term.

* * *

Yellow Medicine is the tenth county in Minnesota to make "American Legion Day" a regular event of its county fair.

* * *

"The Pajama Gazette" is the name of a publication edited by the disabled soldiers of Asbury hospital at Minneapolis, Minn.

* * *

"Say it with jobs" is the slogan adopted by the American Legion in Chicago in its campaign to aid unemployed ex-service men.

* * *

The bodies of Gunmar Dahl and David Thor, "pals," killed in France by the same shell, were buried in the same grave in their native Illinois town.

* * *

New Orleans will be the scene of the 1922 national convention of the American Legion. The Southern city guaranteed $100,000 for defraying expenses of the meeting.

* * *

Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee, Wis., has vetoed a resolution of the city council indorsing the work of the American Legion in finding positions for jobless ex-service men.

* * *

A monumental building to be erected in Washington in memory of the National Guardsmen who gave their lives in the World war, has been suggested by Maj. Gen. George C. Rickards, chief of the militia bureau of the War department.

* * *

The growth of the American Legion is shown by the organization of 1,050 new posts in 1920-21. Many new posts were organized by American ex-service men in foreign countries and today the sun never sets on the American Legion.

* * *

The daisy has been adopted by the American Legion as its official flower. The poppy, which has been popular with Legionnaires because of its association with Flanders, was voted out because it was not an American flower and could not be obtained in large quantities.

* * *

The employment of jobless ex-service men to assist the police in combating the holdup men has been begun in Lincoln, Neb. The plan was evolved following a series of robberies in the residential district of the city. The mayor and chief of police of Lincoln have indorsed the plan.

* * *

Following a reception for him at Kansas City staged by 50,000 members of the American Legion, Marshal Foch, who came to America as the Legion's guest declared that although Washington and New York were the head of the United States he was certain Kansas City was the heart.

* * *

The original post of the American Legion, George Washington Post No. 1, lost no time in signing Marshal Foch as a member. The generalissimo was met at the station at Washington, D. C., on the day of his arrival in America and presented with a membership card and a ceremonial badge of the Legion.

* * *

Marshal Foch is now a devotee of the corn-cob pipe. When his special train was stopped at Washington, Mo., on its way to Kansas City, he was presented with a box of the Missouri product. Later, while he was attending the American Legion convention, he was offered a cigar, but he declined in favor of the corn-cob "furnace."

* * *

More than 30,000 bodies of Americans who died in France during the World war will rest forever in the sacred soil near the battlefields, Secretary of War Weeks declared in a recent letter to the American Legion at Washington. A total of 43,670 bodies have been returned to the United States, according to the war secretary.

* * *

"If you will walk down Main street U. S. A.," writes George F. Kearny in a widely published magazine article, "you will come to a building which houses the American Legion post of the town. It is the most democratic institution that can be found and the discussions of the post are worthy of the closest study as an index of the future."

* * *

A survey recently conducted by the American Legion shows that between 600,000 and 700,000 service men are out of employment in the United States. The East has a greater percentage of jobless men than any other section of the country, with 150,000 former soldiers, sailors and marines in New York alone, without regular employment, many in actual want.

* * *

Police officials of Iowa are investigating the writing of threatening letters to several members of the American Legion in Iowa. The letters are believed to be the work of I. W. W's. One of them demanding "$200 or we'll blow you to h—" was received by John B. Wallace, son of the secretary of agriculture. Young Wallace is vice commander of the Argonne post of the Legion at Des Moines. Harry H. Polk, another Des Moines Legion member, received a letter threatening to blow up his house because he "led the boys to death in battle."

ECONOMICAL DISHES.

A good way to serve a small amount of meat for a good sized family is to cook the meat with the vegetables; the flavor of the meat seasons the vegetables, and less meat is needed to satisfy the appetite.

When preparing lamb or mutton pie if the meat seems scant add a few peas to give flavor and nourishment and thus extend the dish.

A dish nice for a busy day is prepared by slicing potatoes very thin put into a shallow granite baking dish, season with salt and pepper and cover with pork steak or chops, then bake. The chops will season the potatoes and the dish may be served at the table from the dish in which it was baked.

Sunday Night Salad.—Take one can of peas, drained and aired for an hour or two; one cuptul of finely minced celery, three-fourths of a cuptul of fresh peanuts, rolled until like coarse crumbs, two small green onions minced, one-half cuptul of olives finely minced, and three hard-cooked eggs reserving a few eighths to garnish the top of the salad. Mix well with a good highly seasoned mayonnaise dressing and serve in a nest of lettuce which lines a bowl that has been rubbed with a clove of garlic.

Dates added to a baked custard makes a dessert which the children will enjoy and provides a sweet which is perfectly wholesome. Add them to rice tapioca, or any cooked cereal making an otherwise common dish unusual.

Shirred Eggs With Asparagus.—For four eggs have a cupful of cream sauce; into this stir three-fourths of a cupful of asparagus tips and one or two tablespoonfuls of chopped cooked chicken or veal or ham. Spread this mixture in buttered egg shirrers, into each break a fresh egg; sprinkle with salt and half a teaspoonful of melted butter on each. Cook in the oven until the egg is set. Serve at once.

The Willow.

The weeping willow, like the robin which is the first bird to be heard in the morning and the last to cease its song at night, is the first to show its green leaves in the spring and the last to lose them in the fall, the emerald remaining until the first heavy frost in November and then slowly turning russet-brown until its complete defoliation in December.—Frank T. Koons.

Honey Bee Is Prolific.

The honey bee has been so prolific in Australia that it would be possible to gather honey in tons if it were profitable.

One Cause of Unhappiness.

Two-thirds of the people are unhappy because they are worrying about things that shouldn't concern them.—Atchison Globe.

Education.

A well-rounded education that makes its possessor a citizen of the world, open to all the manifold impressions the world contains, one who "sees life steadily and sees it whole," can make only for physical improvement and does make for physical improvement. The quotation just written is from Matthew Arnold; he used it of Sophocles. And is it not a strange coincidence that in the festival procession at Athens this same Sophocles, the great tragic poet, was required to walk naked, because of the physical perfection of his beautiful body? Apparently his many-sided culture and profound thought were mirrored in the beauty of his body. So it will always be. The soul will find its expression in the body. And that mold will be transmitted to future generations, for race is all.—Exchange.

Chopped Dollars.

A "chop," in China, is a trademark. It represents incidentally a guarantee of value, which may be greater or less in proportion to the commercial standing of the firm whose chop it is. The silver dollar in that country is chopped by each firm or money-shop through whose hands it passes. A clean, unchopped dollar is looked upon askance. The chop affixed may be merely an ink stamp, or it may be put on with a sharp die defacing the coin. Thus a silver dollar, after being in circulation for a while, becomes unrecognizable. A properly guaranteed coin assumes a cup shape, and not infrequently with a hole through the middle. The Chinese silversmith exacts a percentage from the dollars that pass through his hands by scooping out some of the silver.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Big Eating Nations.

Among western nations the greatest eaters are the Germans, English French and the Americans, according to one authority. The diet of the Spaniards and the Italians is notably less substantial than that of the English and Germans. The Americans, this authority holds, are on the average the greatest eaters in the world. Carlyle said to Emerson: "The best thing I know of that country is, that in it a man can have meat for his labor."

Nations' Religious Beliefs.

The German prevailing religious belief is Lutheran. The Church of England prevails in Great Britain, known more familiarly in this country as the Episcopalian. However, all churches are accepted in England now. Belgium, France and Italy are Catholic in tendency.

Better When Cut Up.

In California the farms originally were the old "Spanish land grants," usually of enormous extent. In a fashion these great holdings—validated by the American government when California came into the Union—have remained as ranches. Today the people are learning that both for taxation and production, small farms are better.

rounded up in each case.

A Bradforr Township hunting party consisting of P. E. McDowell, C. H. Shirey, E. K. Maines and John G. Maines opened their camp on Rocky Springs and on the opening day at 8 o'clock as McDowell who was cook for the outfit opened the shanty door to throw out the dishwater after having washed the breakfast dishes, he saw a fine big buck coming down over the hill toward the camp. P. E. dropped the dishpan, grabbed his rifle and with one shot laid the buck low. In twenty minutes the boys had the deer hung up at the camp.

At 2 P. M. on the same day J. G. Maines downed a handsome 6 point buck, his fifteenth deer in eighteen seasons.

Read Bible and Shakespeare.

There is only one safe rule about the study of English, and that is to read those who knew how to write it best. It is not uncommon for mothers to remark that they can tell instantly with whom their children have been associating, merely by their language. Constant association with the Bible and Shakespeare is the best rule. No substitutes better than these have yet been given to us.
